2017 Red Mountain Cabernet Sauvignon

Vintage Notes: 2017 was warm, but closer to normal. There were challenges in the spring with rain, a hot, dry July and August, and a cooler September and October. The white varieties were harvested in mid-August, showing high natural acidity and full flavor profiles. Through fermentation and barrel aging these wines are showing complexity, minerality and great acidity.

Tasting: Cedar, spice, chocolate and cherry cordial aromas lead to a layered, plush palate with plentiful plum and cedar flavors. There's detail to it all and also superb balance and structure.
